TaleSpire is a beautiful way to play pen and paper RPGs online. Bring your stories to life and embark upon campaigns together with your friends, regardless of where you are in the world. With TaleSpire, the beauty and physicality of tabletop gaming meet the endless possibilities of a digital world. Here you can collaborate to build your worlds without compromising the handcrafted aesthetic of using traditional miniatures. As a player, you can take on the mantle of multiple heroes and creatures, manage your stats, and express yourself using the growing emotes system. Perform dice rolls directly on the board and interact with your environment, at least, as far as your GM will let you! As a GM, you can dazzle and thrill your friends by building expansive maps, setting up shots, and controlling immersive soundscapes to bring all your delightful and devious designs to life. TaleSpire is not tied to a specific game or ruleset. Whether you're running a one-shot or a sprawling campaign, if it's on a square grid then we have your back. We are now in Early Access, so now is your chance to raise up your sword, rally your friends, and take your next adventure online with us. Building and play are one, setting the stage for your story takes no time at all with TaleSpire, but even if you forget to prep, it can all be added in while you play. Want to destroy a wall to reveal a secret passage? Do it! Want to rain down piles of gold from the heavens? You have the power. At any moment during your adventure, you (or multiple GMs) can jump into building mode and change the world without interrupting anything else. Our persistent online boards can be created at a moment's notice, and everything is synchronized in real-time as you dice-roll your way to glory. A slew of tools to help you on your adventures, it's dangerous to go alone, but luckily we have a bunch of tools that can help, and all are as pleasing as they are useful. Beautiful dice, rulers and area markers, a range of emotes, and special modes for turn-based combat and cinematic sequences are at your disposal. Pick from a plethora of pieces to create your scenes! The current roster stands at 150 miniatures, 750 tiles and props, and 50 unique audio tracks. Our library is ever-expanding; we produce fresh asset packs every month. Share in Highland Park Last week I published an article about a monster written at the Presented by Dystopia Masks Theatre. Now, it's time for the "Unmasking the Monster" series—how monster characters are portrayed at Masks Theatre. This installment looks at Glenwood Village Mansion, which features the demonic Halloween-loving children of the 1950s. Highland Park is rife with iconic places—from the John Hancock Building to the Ferris Wheel at the Northeasterly Park and Ride, you'll find this city has a ton of spots that are recognized by the city and the world. One such exception is Masks Theatre. The theater's motto says "The very worst of the most talented people are welcome here." I assume that means Masks Theatre has quite a bit of talent inside of its walls. Masks Theatre is a production company that presents plays about life and death of their locations. They always invite local photographers to take pictures of the sets before any rehearsals take place—how else are you going to capture a ghost haunting a haunted mansion? As the audience leaves the theater after the final performance, they take a few snapshots of what they believed to be their ghosts. The photos can vary greatly and from the looks of it, Masks Theatre makes a point to incorporate life into their set pieces and make them feel real. The result looks like the photos people choose to post online on social media sites. They successfully make a haunted setting feel real. Part of the fun, as you read on, is discovering the secrets of what's in Masks Theatre's haunted locations. The places Masks Theatre has envisioned come to life onstage, which was evident during their production titled "The Haunted Mansion." "The Haunted Mansion" tells the story of the Calaveras County's end of the 1800s where they experienced a series of murders and claimed the deaths were caused by witches of the "Blackbird Theater and the demon Varnya." "The Haunted Mansion," from the August 31, 2017 show, presented by Masks Theatre As I was taking photos of the mansion, I realized that the story could have been written by Stephen King. I was given pause when the door slid open and I saw the smiling, simian face of the person who greeted me on my first visit. I didn't expect a welcoming smile

There is a soldier in a mine, where his happiness (energy) every day decreases and he should get up every day, eat in the morning and in the evening. Our hero has to get out of the mine as soon as possible. Gameplay: Our hero has to get out of the mine through ladders, stairs, a lift and traps. The player can get out as soon as possible by using the power of the grid. Our hero will get some keys and that's all. By touching the screen, the player can perform basic actions such as jumping, walking, climbing and jumping. However, the player must use the power of the grid to overcome the obstacles and get through each level. Game controls: - Touch left or right to move our hero - Touch the screen to jump -Touch the screen to do somersaults and become invincible for a certain time By touching, the player can use a power of the grid to fly, change direction or walk under the obstacle. Currently, there are 3 types of obstacles: - Gravity. - Hedgehog. - Trap. How to beat the game: The more power you have at the beginning of the game, the more keys you have to get out. Then you can play a 2D platformer game on the train! In the first level, you have no power and no keys. You must go to the goal by finding the keys and the way out of the mine. You know that, the key is placed under a stone. You go to this place and that's all. Enjoy this awesome game! The soldier in the mine is an interesting 2D platformer. In this game, to move from one cave to another. But you will interfere with obstacles.Key features: - 1215 achievements - 15 exciting levels - Medium complexity - Nice design About This Game: There is a soldier in a mine, where his happiness (energy) every day decreases and he should get up every day, eat in the morning and in the evening.
