This all works perfectly fine in Firefox and Safari, but when I try in Chrome DevTools it just displays and out put without displaying the response from the server. I have tried everything like turning off Web SSL, turning on DevTools Network and even disabling WebRTC, but it still wouldn't work. I have been using XHR2 and async code in my application as in the following posts: XMLHttpRequest successful post without 'status'

Thank you in advance for your help! A: I'm posting here because I was looking through all the options I have but found out that it was none of them. The problem was the CORS (cross origin request) that I was sending through AJAX. The way to do that is to add the headers in the WebSocket options just like this: `var ws = new WebSocket('ws://localhost:8080'); ws.onopen = function(e) { ws.send('Get More Topics'); } ws.onmessage = function(evt) { console.log(evt); }` Safetikun Safetikun (, born 1967) is a political-military consultant and a former senior adviser to the

Iniesta's move, which is expected to be confirmed on Wednesday, will be the most expensive in Spanish history. He has joined a side that has already broken the world transfer record for a player and has now accumulated the most money in football transfer fees. He will join up with Lionel Messi, who moved to the club from Manchester City, and Jorge Valdano, the former Barcelona manager. Internacional have also spent hundreds of millions on transfers and during this financial year broke the world transfer record for the second time. They spent £76m on Neymar and £25m on Kaka. David Villa, Cesc Fàbregas and Messi are the others at Barcelona - and with a transfer fee that has been estimated at more than €200m - for the club to break the world record at least twice this year. Spain's EL País newspaper has estimated that Barcelona spent around €250m on transfers in 2011, outspending Real Madrid, who had spent €230m, and their former club, Atlético Madrid, who were seventh in the transfer market, on €220m. Barcelona's financial director, Jordi Mestres, told El País: "It's the most expensive decade in the history of our club and the most expensive in the history of football." • Renato Sanches The midfielder, who won Fifa's best young player award last year, has joined Bayern from Braga for €20m. The 19-year-old, who scored five goals in Portugal's run to the semi-final of the European Under-21 Championship, is the club's second summer signing following Sebastian Almarik, a young striker signed from Hannover in Germany. The Frenchman Michel Bastos, a Bordeaux midfielder who was loaned to Braga for the last two seasons, will join Bayern for €7m. • Leicester City In the e79caf774b
